Proof of God

The Summa Theologica is a masterpiece in the Catholic lexicon. St. Thomas Aquinas beautifully lays out a logical way of understanding God and our faith. Our episode today specifically concerns his proofs of the existence of God. Using human reasoning and our understanding of the world around us, St. Thomas expertly explains this deepest of mysteries. To help us understand these concepts better, Fr. Hightower has joined Nicholas for an in-depth and relevant discussion.

- The Spiritual Exercises in Everyday Life (SEEL) Retreatants refer to the Spiritual Exercises in Everyday Life (SEEL) as the spiritual experience of a lifetime. It's a series of prayers and meditations by St. Ignatius of Loyola, the 16th century founder of the Jesuits. Today SEEL retreats are offered through St. Francis Xavier Parish in Missoula. Here's what Amy Nulliner said about her retreat:

“I witnessed the profound changes SEEL made in the faith of my friends. I was yearning for that intimacy with the Lord. In making the SEEL retreat, I learned deeply engaging ways to pray. Someone once said, “If you give the Lord an hour a day, he will knock your socks off.” That was certainly true for me. If God is nudging you, I encourage you to step out in faith and apply to be a SEEL retreatant this year. Just hold onto your socks!”
